Dear RV Enthusiast,

Thank you for your interest in Adventure Treks the leading provider of RV caravans to Alaska and the Canadian Maritime Provinces.

In 1994, Betty (my wife) and I made our first RV trip to Alaska. We were overwhelmed by the beauty of the remote wilderness and have returned to Alaska every year since. We have enjoyed travel in Alaska so much, we decided to find a way to share our love for the northwest and RV travel with others. In 2001 we started Alaska RV Adventures (now called Adventure Treks) offering one tour a year. Since then we have grown, offering tours to the Canadian Maritime Provinces as well as 8 tours to Alaska. Over the years we have guided hundreds of satisfied guests.

I would like to take a little bit of your time and provide information about what we offer. It is a lot of information to digest. But, I am a firm believer in making informed decisions and want to provide you everything you need to assist you with your decision.

I am glad that you have decided to investigate RV caravans. It really is the best way to see unfamiliar territories and offers many benefits. First and foremost, RV caravans offer a level of safety that you can't get while traveling alone. Our guides have traveled these roads many times and can alert you to road hazards ahead. The TailGunner, traveling as the last rig in the group, watches out for anyone that breaks down and provides roadside assistance. And, there is safety in numbers.

An added benefit to traveling with a caravan is the opportunity to build friendships with other like-minded RV travelers. Many of my guests have said that it is comforting to know they will see familiar faces at the campground each night and that they have built friendships on our tours that last many years. All of our guests have expressed a desire to maintain contact after their trip is over.

Needless to say, RV caravans provide you with a planned itinerary. My wife and I have used our traveling experiences to create an itinerary that provides you with the best-of-the-best. We know the best tours, the best places to visit, the best museums, shows and campgrounds. We select activities to immerse you in the local culture, natural surroundings and history. If you were traveling alone you might get lucky and choose to visit some of these places. But in the process, waste a lot of time at inferior campgrounds and ho-hum tours. Most people have a limited time and budget for vacations and want to make the most of their resources. Our guests have rated our tours as an "Outstanding Value" and said they would recommend us to their friends. I am so confident of our customer satisfaction; I am sharing with you a list of prior guests that you may contact.

Before deciding to form our company, my wife and I did a lot of research. We visited with a lot of people traveling with caravans to learn about what they liked and disliked. They liked the safety of traveling in a group but didn't want to be treated like "cattle". They liked having a planned itinerary but wanted free time to use as they wished. They enjoyed traveling with like-minded people but wanted the freedom to be alone when they wanted. We listened a lot and decided that we could do it better than the big companies.

The larger companies maximize their profits by forcing their customers into large caravans (up to 40 rigs). Our caravans are limited to 15 rigs. Smaller caravans allow the guests to get to know each other in a smaller, more comfortable setting and allow our staff to get to know each guest on a first-name basis. Our smaller caravans provide many social opportunities to build friendships that will last.

Our guests do not feel like they are "cattle". We don't dress you in company logo vests, jackets or hats. We don't herd you from one place to the next. Our staff takes the time to get to know each guest by name. We treat you as individuals.

While we offer a fully planned itinerary that provides the best-of-the-best activities, we build-in a lot of free time.

Some of the larger companies plan their itineraries around activities that maximize their profits. They have large advertising budgets and the office staff to pay for. They herd you into tours, museums and shows that can be provided at the cheapest cost. They fill your days with ho-hum activities at little or no cost to them. They take you to shop at stores that provide kickbacks to them on every purchase you make. We don't use those tactics. We plan our itinerary based on the fun, interesting, entertaining and educational activities my wife and I have experienced first-hand. We believe in growing our company based on providing value to our guests and devoting our efforts to satisfying our customers, key components in the success of our company.

I hope that after you read this material and compare what we offer, you will choose Adventure Treks. We pride ourselves on exceeding our customer's expectations.

Don't hesitate to call me if you have any questions. I look forward to meeting you on an upcoming tour.

Sincerely,

How Our Caravans are Different

1. We only run small caravans (15 rigs or less). Some of our competitors run caravans of 40 rigs or more. We feel that the small caravans are much more enjoyable for our guests. Many of our guests have built friendships that have endured far beyond the end of the trek.
2. We treat our guests as individuals. Our staff gets to know each guest on a first name basis. We don't make you wear company logo hats or jackets.
3. We don't run our caravans like a military excursion. Our guests are free to leave the campground when they want each morning. Our guests can travel on their own during the day if they want and rejoin the group at the next campground. Our guests can even leave the caravan and rejoin at a later date. We offer the maximum amount of personal freedom and choice.
4. We provide morning coffee to help get you going.
5. Our TrekMaster arrives at the next campground early and is waiting with pre-assigned campsites for each of our guests. You don't even need to check-in at the office.
6. All of our tours include downloadable, electronic GPS data that includes routes and points-of-interest. We even include recommended routes to the rendezvous campground.
7. We provide each guest (before the tour begins) a list of all of the campgrounds where we stay in case they wanted to leave that information with a relative or neighbor.
8. Our TrekMasters and TailGunners have gone through an exhaustive selection process and training program. They are there to make sure you have a safe and enjoyable tour.
9. In surveys conducted at the end of our tours, 97.8% of our customers rate our tours as an "Outstanding Value". 99.3% of our customers would recommend our tours to a friend.
10. Once you reserve a tour, our prices are guaranteed not to increase.
11. We don't charge you a cancellation fee if you need to cancel. If you need to cancel while on a tour, you receive a pro-rated refund. You only pay for what you get.

12. We provide each guest a complete itinerary at the start of the trek. The itinerary not only includes everything that we do as a group, but also includes;
- a. suggestions of things to see and do while traveling between campgrounds
  - b. maps and driving directions so that you can find the campgrounds
  - c. a wealth of other useful information like where to buy fuel, the location of the Wal-Marts and emergency contact information
  - d. Other caravan companies provide this at a daily meeting where you will be required to take notes

Frequently Asked Questions

1. How many miles do we drive per day? The mileage varies each day based on the availability of campgrounds and road conditions. The daily mileage is planned so that if you leave the campground by 9:00 am, you can easily arrive at the next campground by 2:00 pm and averages about 150 miles per day.
2. I want to bring my motor home. Do I need a towed vehicle? On our other tours, towed vehicles are a matter of personal preference. Many guests like to use their towed vehicle to sightsee after they arrive at the campground.
3. Are the roads in Alaska as rough as they say they are? The road conditions vary each year, but generally are good; much like traveling on country roads in the lower 48. There are some roads that are in poor condition but easily passable if you drive slowly and carefully.
4. Do cell phones work? Cell phone service is available only in the larger cities. In Canada you may have to pay high roaming fees whenever there is service. Check with your provider for more information on your particular plan.
5. Can I get my prescriptions filled? My best advice to you is to bring sufficient medicine to last the entire trip. You can get prescriptions filled in Canada, if you see a Canadian doctor first.
6. Is internet access available? Yes. A lot of the campgrounds offer wireless access. You must have an 802.11b card in your computer in order to use the wireless service.
7. How can my family contact me in case of an emergency? We provide a list of the campgrounds where we will be staying that includes contact information. Many of our guests leave a copy of this with their loved ones in case they need to contact them.
8. Is emergency medical service available? Yes. Keep in mind though that when we travel in remote areas, response times will generally be slower than in the lower 48. In Canada and Alaska, good quality medical care is available.
9. What if I breakdown on the road? Our TailGunner travels in the back of the pack. He will not pass any rig on our tour. When he sees one of our rigs stopped along the highway, he will stop and provide assistance if needed.

10. Can I bring my pet? Absolutely. We only stay at campgrounds that allow pets. There are usually pet sitting services available if needed. In Canada you will need to provide a Health Certificate from your vet and have proof of rabies vaccination.
11. How much does fuel cost? Fuel prices in Alaska are on par with the lower 48 and higher in Canada (about 30%). Our TrekMasters will share with you the location of fuel stops that are less expensive or offer discounts to our guests.
12. What if I need to cancel my reservation? Just let us know as soon as possible. If we get a 60 day notice, all money paid will be refunded. If you cancel after that, we retain $300 plus any non-refundable deposits made on your behalf. The $300 can be used as a credit on any future tour you book with us. If you need to leave a tour due to an emergency, you will be provided a pro-rated refund.
13. Do we have full services every night of the tour? The campgrounds in Alaska generally provide 30 amp electrical service, water and sewer (or a dump station). Several remote campgrounds that are powered by their own “on site” generators offer 15 amp electricity. On some of our tours, there are 1-2 nights of dry camping.
14. How much free time is available? A lot. Travel times are generally planned so that you will get to the campground by 2:00 pm. There are also many free days in the schedule.
15. Can we buy food along the way? All major towns have grocery stores. Our trip documentation will help you to plan food purchases. Almost all of the campgrounds have restaurants within walking distance.
16. Are there any evening activities? Our Deluxe tours provide many activities. In addition, we plan bingo, cards and potluck dinners.
